On 10 February 1947, the TAEJU CIC office received information from a Confidential Informant that the "Red Flag Youngmen's Association" is making plans for a 1 March riot in TAEJU (1157 - 1439). This secret organization has an approximate membership of 100 persons and is responsible for the printing and the distribution of the inflammatory posters and handbills that have been circulating in TAEJU. The "Red Flag Youngmen's Association" is giving money to children and beggars and instructing them to plaster the inflammatory posters and handbills on walls and buildings after curfew hours. Informant further stated that secret meetings are being held after curfew hours in private homes by fifteen high officials of the "Red Flag Youngmen's Association"; five of them formerly belonged to the Communist Party in North Korea. Numbers in combination with a crossed arrow (See below) are being marked in either chalk or pencil on the outside of policemen's homes, so that rioters will know specifically whether it is a policeman's, police official's, or police chief's or vice-chief's home. CIC puts an evaluation of B-3 on the information.
