2. Civil Disturbances 1-15 Jul 49:

a. Incidents Scattered: Continuous, aggressive action by the Korean Republic's armed forces resulted in the death of more than 225 guerrillas during the period 1-15 Jul. Approximately 110 civilians, policemen and soldiers were killed while combating the guerrilla forces. Although a majority of the incidents occurred in the southern provinces, the accompanying map shows that considerable action took place along the eastern coast of the mainland. Cheju Island continued to remain quiet, with no serious incidents reported. A summary of important incidents reported during the period is given below. (b)

2. Civil Disturbances 16-31 Jul 49:

a. Majority in Southern Provinces: More than 160 guerrillas and Communists were killed on the Korean mainland by elements of the Korean Army and National Police during the period 16-31 Jul. However, 19 civilians, 18 policemen, and 119 soldiers were killed while combating the guerrilla forces. A majority of the incidents occurred in the southern provinces, although some were scattered along the eastern coast. No serious incident was reported as having occurred on Cheju Island--long the scene of severe guerrilla operations.
